My dream as a dancer is to express myself. I do not dance for the trophies and medals. I dance to bring myself joy. Dance is such an open art form and it allows you to speak without opening your mouth.

My goals moving forward is to continue dancing for myself and others. I would also like to continue teaching new dancers and watching them progress.

I have achieved a bit as a dancer. I am more outgoing and goofy. I am also more confident in myself and enjoy trying new moves.

Dancing was not always easy. I began when I was younger, and had to quit due to a literal life-changer. I began again my second semester as a freshman. I danced with younger girls, and I was fine with it. Currently, I dance with middle-schoolers and toddlers that share the same skills as myself. I coach younger groups and come in to practice three to five days a week. Recently, I had been cyber-bullied by a group of high school girls for dancing with younger kids and being around them a bit more. At first, it did not bother me. The comments continued to stack and I ended up feeling really sad and embarrassed for something I could not control. I overcame it, however, and will continue doing what I love until I cannot any longer.

Julia Hough

Hey y'all! My name is Julia Hough and I am so honored to have this opportunity to share a little more about me and my story.

First of I wanted to thank my parents and family for supporting me with my journey through modeling and pushing me to gain confidence in everything I do. I want to thank God as well for keeping me safe, happy, and healthy 24/7.

This is my first year modeling. I was used in tons of local magazines as a toddler and finally decided I should try and get back into it! I entered Miss Teen TX USA 2021 as a competitor and cannot wait to compete upcoming fall. Of course I have been training, and working on skills to keep my confidence up and learning more about myself.

One of my biggest accomplishments is my dance life. I have been taking dance classes ever since I was 2 years old and currently I am 16. That is about 14 years of dance training! Recently I have earned my Pointe Shoes and am working on learning more about Pointe Ballet. I am an Assistant Teacher at my local dance studio in Texas and I love spreading my love of dance with other dancers around the community. Being an assistant teacher has not only showed me how to teach, but also shown me how I should treat others. I have learned patience with each one of my students, and learned about how all of us are different. We all learn differently whether it be hands on, notes, or demonstrating technique to the dancer. I am so thankful that God has blessed me with such powerful people by my side through this dance life.

Thank you for letting me share about me! I am so thankful for each and every one of you!

My dreams revolve around art and animals. I have a passion for designing artwork with the use of resin and one day I would like to see my creation displayed in an art gallery. I also have a soft spot for all animals which leads me to one of my goals. I want to become a veterinarian and hope, one day, get accepted into one of the top veterinarian schools in the world. In the meantime, my devotion to dance allows me to express my love for all walks of life and develops my artistic mind by allowing me to envision creations of art through movement. There have been challenges over the years and not all where dance related. It took some years to discover what I had a passion for. I tried different sports like, cheerleading, tennis, lacrosse, and volleyball. Was even on the school dance team but none of those made me say, "this is it!". Then, the day came where I was sent to a dance studio to learn basic skills of dance and from there, it changed everything. Over time, I learned to master movements and move up in skill at a fast pace. As I watched other dancers, it made me want to work harder to do the things they could do. I knew I was up against a challenge and that was many of the dancers that I will be up against had been dancing for years and had lots of practice therefore, to be competitive, I had to work harder in-between routines and lessons. Many times, I wanted to give up but if I did, I knew I wasn't just giving up on dance, I was giving up on myself. I learned to take the punches from failure but soon realized, failure pushed me to conquering! I was not going to be defeated, eternally, and by facing my challenges it turned into my achievements. I quickly climbed the skill level chart and adapted flexibility into my routines. From there, my teacher and I focused on my abilities and my personality and created some unique dance routines, outside the box. My motto is, "Target the objective, face the challenge, live the dream!"

Kira Nazymko

Hey! I am Kira, I am 7 years old and I am from Ukraine! I am a gymnast and a model. I love to study and read. And I want to succeed in everything I do! Why me? To be honest, it is difficult to answer this question. After all, it is too arrogant and stupid to say that it is you, the person who deserves victory wherever it may be, but I deserve to be a winner! Let this seem like a self-confident statement, but if you do not believe in yourself and the fulfillment of desires, it would be worthwhile to start all this at all. I am open, positive and kind! I have the ability to achieve goals through kindness, understanding, honesty and everything that I undertake, I do sincerely and from the heart. I appreciate friendship and healthy competition, because this is not unimportant in our life. I am an athlete and used to set a goal for myself - to win. My mentors and coaches always teach me to give an inner mindset that helps me to exert extra effort and use my full potential. I have character and fortitude, as befits any athlete. I want to be the face of the cover because I believe in luck and hope that I will succeed! Why not? After all, each of us contestants dreams of getting on the cover, reaching the top, winning a prize, and dreams must come true! My intentions and words are serious. Well, in general, as they say, the main thing is participation! And the strongest will win. But I will not hide, I really want to be among them!

I understand that the text about me is more than 10 sentences, but I wanted to say everything) !!!!
